Mandatory crop loan insurance

The State Bank of Pakistan is expected to issue a working paper to the banks on the modalities of crop loan insurance in a week or so, a spokesman for the SBP said. The crop loan insurance is planned to be launched from next Rabi crop. The loan insurance schemes for the three crops are under consideration of the government, insurance companies and the banks. The task force comprises representatives of all big insurance companies, banks and officials of SBP and Security Exchange Commission (SECP). The government-owned National Insurance Company (NICL) also does not come under the purview of the scheme. Initially, the subsidy will be provided by the federal government for launching of scheme through National Insurance Company. The other scheme of finance ministry is Crop Loan Insurance Scheme which covers all major crops. (Dawn, 28th July, 2008)

Rising power tariff

Industry, business, agriculture, commercial and household including lifeline consumers would have to bear the brunt of a continuous rise in electricity rates for an unlimited period in the foreseeable future. The National Electric Power Regulatory Authority (NEPRA) has just concluded the process of public hearings for increase in base tariff requested by WAPDA's distribution companies. The problem is that power rates for industrial and commercial consumers are already too high and still subsidize domestic and agriculture consumers. Indicative tariffs for all these projects start from 18 cents per unit. Against 18 cents per unit cost of thermal power and natural gas based projects have a production cost of 6-7 cents per unit against 9.5 cents per unit of coal-based projects and 4.7-6.0 cents per unit of hydropower generation. It does not require anything more than common sense to choose between 18 cents per unit and 5-6 cents per unit power generation cost to save future generations. (Dawn, 28th July, 2008)

Securing food through biodiversity

Wild animals and plants are sources of food, medicine and building materials, and help generate income. Rivers and lakes provide transport facility, water and sea food. The coastal zone is a permanent source of sustenance. Biodiversity provides goods and services fundamental to survival of human being including air, fresh water, medicines and shelter. Biodiversity is used for biological diversity in variety of life on earth. The convention on biological diversity defines biodiversity in the three inter-linked levels ecosystem, species and genetic. The causes of biodiversity loss are complex. Local knowledge and culture can be considered integral parts of agricultural biodiversity, because it is the human activity of agriculture that conserves this biodiversity. Creating well managed agricultural systems is essential. (Dawn, 28th July, 2008)

Privatization of strategic assets

The Federal Minister for Privatization and Investment, Syed Naveed Qamar, announced on June 6 the re-prioritized privatization programme 2008-09. The list of State Owned Enterprises (SOEs) includes prime engineering units such as Heavy Electrical Complex (HEC) at Hattar and Pakistan Machine Tool Factory (PMTF) at Karachi. Engineering units like Pakistan Steel, Heavy Mechanical Complex (HMC), HEC and PMTF are of national strategic importance and should not be sold to the private sector. The previous government had de-listed Karachi Shipyard & Engineering Works (KSEW) and Heavy Mechanical Complex (HMC), the two heavy engineering units, from privatization programme. Liberal trade policy, huge imports

The private sector has found the first trade policy of the Gilani government more business-friendly than the finance bill announced in June 08. It further liberalizes trade. "Pakistan is a resource rich country. The underlying causes of high trade deficit are the increase in oil prices raising its import bill to over $ 11.3 billion as against $ 7.3 billion last year; import of wheat at higher than previous prices; increase in price of palm oil from $ 502.7 PMT to $ 839.3 PMT; raw cotton imports due to crop shortfall; increase in import of machinery and increase in import of fertilizers and chemicals", a senior officer of the ministry of commerce said defending his department. Foreign investors withdraw another $ 29.593 million

Foreign investors continued their cautious stance due to prevailing political and economic situation in the country and withdrew another $ 29.593 million from the Pakistan's equity market during the outgoing week ended July 25, 2008. The cumulative net outflow of the current month from July 1 to July 25 stood at $ 72.768 million while the cumulative figures of current calendar year (January 1, 2008 to July 18, 2008) were recorded at negative 314.204 million. The prevailing geo-political situation and weakening economic indicators are the main reasons, which forced the foreign investors to offload their holdings, a leading analyst said, adding that various measures taken by the SECP and KSE board to support the local share market failed to revive the investor confidence during the outgoing week. (Business Recorder, 28th July, 2008)

Government may seek Rs. 10.305 billion foreign financing

Rs. 10.305 billion project on deepening and widening of 45 kilometre long navigational channel at Port Qasim. After completion of the project, which is aimed at deepening the channel to 14.0 meters by May 2010, the Port Qasim Authority (PQA) would be able to accommodate post-Panamax vessels of a draught ranging from 11.5 to 14.0 meters, which would ultimately augur well on the financial front. A timely and quick release of project payments is vital in accomplishing any big project, like this one, but unfortunately this is not the case with government backed financing. Highlighting the importance of the project, the PQA official said, regional ports, like Mundra and Colombo, had continued to deepen their channels to maintain draughts to 11.5 to 14.0 meters to accommodate the deep-draft ships. In a bid to forge more ties, an action plan has been put in place to seal new business and academic ties between the West Midlands and India. Two-way trade between the UK and India is today worth $ 8.7 billion per year. (Times of India, 28th July, 2008)

SBP asks banks to lower KIBOR

The State Bank of Pakistan has warned banks to bring down the Karachi Inter-Bank Offered Rate (KIBOR) up to 13 to 13.5 per cent or face action against this undesirable inter-bank rate. Participants of the meeting included the chief executive officers of a large number of banks, heads of bank treasuries and high-level functionaries of the SBP. A senior banker said that at current levels the KIBOR is factoring in at least 2 per cent to 2.5 per cent of further increases in the SBP discount rate over the course of the coming 6 months. Sources also said that when the SBP officials were told that KIBOR reflected market realities and those 6-month inter-bank borrowing rates are between 14 per cent and 15 per cent, they said that the inter-bank market could trade funds at whatever level it wished so long as KIBOR was in the range specified at 13 per cent to 13.5 per cent. Referring to the points raised by the All-Pakistan Tax Bar Association (APTBA) president Naveed A Andrabi, he said that the FBR had already assured not to use Section 52-A5 which holds intermediary responsible for any wrong statement in tax returns filed through them by a taxpayer. Mr. Qutab assured the tax consultants that all issues and problems faced in the e-filing of returns would be resolved. Earlier, Pakistan Revenue Automation Limited officials explained the method of e-enrollment and e-filing of sales tax and FED. It was emphasized that e-filing of returns is based on annex which allows taxpayer to work freely to file his return. (Dawn, 29th July, 2008)

(Business Recorder, 29th July, 2008)

LCCI demands withdrawal of WHT on import of gold

The Lahore Chamber of Commerce and Industry (LCCI) has demanded of the government to withdraw withholding tax on the import of gold to pave the way for official import of gold to enable Pakistani importers to export jewellery through value-addition of the precious metal. LCCI's Senior Vice-President Mian Muzaffar Ali, Vice-President Shafqat Saeed Piracha and former President Mian Shafqat Ali also spoke. Pakistan, which stood nowhere at present in the world business of gems and jewellery, would gain an attractive opportunity to increase its exports in this field to an optimal level provided an aggressive sector-specific strategy was adopted and the LCCI is ready to do the needful to bring Pakistan gem and Jewellery sector at par with other leading nations, he added. ARY Group Chairman Haji Abdul Razzaq Yakooob said that there was a dire need of an institution for the technical guidance of businessmen of this sector. (Business Recorder, 29th July, 2008)

Global financial markets are “fragile” and indicators of systemic risk remain “elevated” almost a year into the credit crisis, the International Monetary Fund said. The fund warned credit growth in the US could fall further as a result of ongoing financial system stress and warned that emerging markets would be tested as global financing conditions tighten and policymakers grapple with rising inflation. (Financial Times, 29th July, 2008)

ECC likely to approve textile package

The textile tycoons succeeded in forcing the government to announce a hefty package of subsidies for exporters of textile and clothing. A source in the textile industry said that textile and clothing sectors had strong representation in the government and even one member of the advisory council is also from the textile sector. The government had already dolled out more than Rs. 43 billion as subsidy to the sector since April 2005 but the exports from the sector has been stagnated. An official in the Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) said that the tax department had already communicated to the finance ministry that the sector was not contributing to the tax collection as the only tax coming from the sector was the one per cent flat rate of withholding tax on export proceeds. (Dawn, 30th July, 2008)

KIBOR falls after SBP warning

The banks traded money at a reduced rate as desired by the State Bank of Pakistan despite their reluctance to bring down the Karachi Inter-Bank Offered Rate (KIBOR) with immediate effect. Six-month KIBOR was quoted at 14.24 per cent. KIBOR dropped as there was a capacity to absorb the SBP demand of lowering the rate. Several bankers said that the money was not available at KIBOR rate. The real inter-bank rate was higher by at least 1.5 per cent what the KIBOR showed. When the discount rate was 12 per cent, the KIBOR was showing a rate of 14.20 per cent. Now the SBP further increased the discount rate by 100 basis points, making the discount rate as 13 per cent. KIBOR could not be retained at 13.3 per cent after the discount rate reaches 13 per cent, said the banker, adding the KIBOR would increase within a week. (Dawn, 30th July, 2008)

India hikes key interest rate

India’s central bank raised its key short-term lending rate by half-a-percentage point in an aggressive bid to tame inflation riding at a 13-year high, prompting a major stock market sell-off. Shares tumbled nearly four per cent after the bank announced the hike in the REPO rate at which commercial banks borrow funds from the central bank. Property, automobile and bank shares were hardest hit. Looking forward, global and domestic factors pose severe challenges to monetary policy management and warrant reinforced policy actions. The Reserve Bank “was more aggressive than expected,” said Rupa Rege Nitsure, senior economist at the Bank of Baroda, calling the step “distinctly pre-emptive.” Another economist, Siddhartha Sanyal of brokerage Edelweiss Securities, called rate tightening both “harsh and hawkish.” Since April, it has hiked the REPO rate by 125 basis points and the cash reserve ratio by 150 basis points. Rise in discount rate will have negative impact on economy

The 100 base-point increase in the discount rate announced in the monetary policy by State Bank Governor Shamshad Akhtar faced criticism since it could leave a negative impact on the country's economy. Former Lahore Chamber of Commerce and Industry president Anjum Nisar told. He also told that the government is borrowing from banks and it has breached the previous government's record in this regard. Instead of maintaining financial disciplines, the government is creating problems for the business community. He said the increase in the mark-up would unlikely to arrest the increasing inflation and rather push up the cost of business, which in turn would make our products non-competitive. Abbasi and Company Chief Operating Officer Syed Muhammad Ishaq commenting on the monetary policy said the increase in the interest rate would squeeze credit expansion while add non-performing loans of banks which in turn would reduce their profitability. (Business Recorder, 30th July, 2008)

World trade talks collapse

Talks on a new world trade pact broke down without agreement, delegates said, after more than a week of bitter wrangling. US Trade Representative Susan Schwab told referring to an earlier breakthrough on a deal proposed by WTO chief Pascal Lamy that the package that we were able to negotiate and agree is not going to carry the day. New Zealand Trade Minister Phil Goff confirmed that talks had collapsed. Delegates said negotiations stumbled over proposals for import tariff measures to protect poor farmers that would impose a special tariff on certain agricultural goods in the event of an import surge or price fall. India and the United States were sharply divided over the so-called special safeguard mechanism (SSM). (Business Recorder, 30th July, 2008)

China's retail sales up 23% in June, a 10-year high

China's retail sales hit 864.2 billion Yuan (126.7 billion U.S. dollars) in June, showing a 10-year-high growth rate of 23 percent year-on-year, the National Bureau of Statistics said. The growth rate was 7.0 percentage points higher than a year earlier and 1.4 percentage points higher than in May. Adjusted for inflation, the June growth rate was 14.8 percent, the bureau said. Zhuang Jian, senior economist with the Asian Development Bank PRC Resident Mission, attributed the faster growth rate to several factors. These included workers' expectations of rising incomes, more allowances for low-income earners as a result of the new labor contract law and efforts by local governments to raise welfare payments to the needy. Retail sales stood at 5.1 trillion Yuan nationwide during the first half, up 21.4 percent, or 12.9 percent in real terms. (Xinhua, 30th July, 2008)

Fed lays on extra liquidity support

The Federal Reserve ramped up its liquidity support operations again in an effort to reduce money market strains and pre-empt the possibility of funding crises at the year-end or at other stress points. The US central bank said it would offer three-month cash loans to banks and create a new options auction facility. It also said it would give investment banks and other primary dealers extended access to emergency cash and loans of Treasury securities until January 30. (Financial Times, 30th July, 2008)

China to extend Africa acquisitions

China is readying to move into Africa on a scale that far outstrips its acquisitions on the continent to date, according to the South African bank that is laying the groundwork. High-level groups of bankers from Industrial and Commercial Bank of China and Standard Bank, respectively China and Africa's biggest banks, are examining potential targets in Africa's oil and gas, telecoms, base metals and power sectors, executives at the Johannesburg-based lender have told the Financial Times. (Financial Times, 30th July, 2008)

Rate-hike response against SBP's expectation

The market response to new monetary policy was against the expectation of the State Bank of Pakistan as the inter-bank money rate fell to even half per cent, while an increase of 405 points was witnessed in the KSE 100-share index. Despite tightening of monetary policy by increasing the discount rate by one per cent, the market reacted opposite to the action taken by the SBP. Bankers and market experts saw no significant impact of the discount rate increase on inflation as the pressure is mounting to push the inflation figure further high in the coming months. Analysts also increased their annual inflation target after the announcement of the monetary policy. Analysts expect that the CPI (Consumer Price Index) to be recorded at 23 per cent for July 2008-09, and the weekly SPI (Sensitive Price Index) trend support the projection. Even a conservative one per cent monthly increase in CPI indicates that August and September inflation would be settled around 22 per cent, they said. (Dawn, 31st July, 2008)

$ 900m sought from ADB to improve reserves

Pakistan is desperately seeking $ 900 million from the Asian Development Bank by October this year to improve its fast depleting foreign exchange reserves. This funding is meant for improving energy sector and infrastructure development programme in the country. The government was told that the ADB had launched a new long-term 2020 strategy "refocusing" its operation in Asia and Pacific on three point development agenda that included growth, environmentally sustainable growth, and regional integration. By 2020, about 50 per cent of operations will be in private sector development and private sector operations, and 30 per cent in regional cooperation and integration. (Dawn, 31st July, 2008)

Three-month Treasury bill yield increased

The cut-off yield on 3-month Treasury bills rose at an auction to 12.1954 per cent from 11.7825 per cent previously, the State Bank of Pakistan said. The weighted average yield on the 3-month paper came at 12.1688 per cent, up from 11.6528 per cent in the previous auction on July 16, the SBP said. It was the first T-bill auction since the State Bank increased its key discount rate to 13 per cent from 12 per cent, and the third T-bill auction in the 2008-09 fiscal year. The bank said it sold Rs. 39.95 billion of the 3-month paper, after receiving total bids of Rs. 99.3 billion. It had a pre-combined auction target of Rs. 50 billion. Dealers expect the rupee to remain stable in the short-term but are uncertain about the medium to long term. (Dawn, 31st July, 2008)

Doha round may take two more years

The Doha round of talks is likely to take at least two more years for reaching a compromise on modalities for cuts in tariff and subsidies on agriculture and industrial goods. When contacted, Federation of Pakistan Chambers of Commerce and Industry President Tanvir Shaikh declined to comment on the failure of talks and its possible impact on Pakistan exports. Any real movement in world trade talks may be a long time coming. Pakistan will continue to face stiff competition from some developing and least developed countries in export of textile and clothing products to the markets of developed countries. Pakistan's Ambassador to WTO Dr. Manzoor Ahmad in a report outlined an ambitious market for textile and clothing exports to many countries, including the US, EU, Canada and Australia in the wake of finalization of the Doha round. The main commodities, which will snatch maximum markets in these countries, would include cotton shirts, knitted shirts of manmade fibres, which are attracting higher duties in these countries market. Trade analysts said that the WTO is already losing its credibility as central rule maker in global trade due to the growing number of bilateral trade agreements around the world. (Dawn, 31st July, 2008)

India, US attempt to salvage WTO talks fails

The United States and India both said they hoped to build on progress made before world trade talks collapsed, but clashed again on the issue that brought the meeting down. Schwab said Washington had already made a major concession by agreeing to a compromise package crafted by WTO chief Pascal Lamy that would allow developing countries to hike tariffs above current maximum levels when imports grow by 40 per cent compared to a three-year moving average. India had argued for a trigger of 15 per cent import growth to allow poorer countries to quickly stem a flood of imports. Groups representing about 100 developing countries believed firmly that the "vulnerability of the poor farmers could not be traded off against the commercial interests of the developed countries. Get rid of TDAP, redundant ministries, EAC tells government

The Economic Advisory Committee (EAC) has recommended to the government to get rid of Trade Development Authority of Pakistan (TDAP) and all other redundant agencies/ministries and authorities to cut down non-development expenditure, besides rationalizing development spending to achieve fiscal consolidation. The EAC wanted the government to achieve 20 percent reduction in non-development expenditure in the current fiscal year to reduce its dependence on domestic borrowing. Other than cutting down travel expenditure, the EAC also wanted drastic reduction in VVIPs protocol. It recommended a major change in the procedure for selection of projects for making development the people centric. About the fund's expansion programme, BSF Chief Executive Officer David Monkman said new regional offices would meet demands for BSF's support in the region. (Business Recorder, 31st July, 2008)

Extra funds for projects: provinces seek PC help for evolving mechanism

The provincial governments have approached the Planning Commission (PC) for help in formulating a mechanism to allocate more funds than actual cost to development projects due to escalation in prices of the inputs, sources told. The PC has already set up a committee on the issue, but its progress is very slow due to lack of sharing of information from the Commission by different authorities executing schemes under provincial governments' development plan. Sources said the number of ongoing projects is around 1500. The contractors are in serious trouble to cope with the prices of inputs within the actual cost. They have taken up the issue with the executing agencies (federal and provincial ministries) to include the raise in the total cost of the projects. According to normal procedure, the CDWP is the competent authority to revise the cost of the projects with cost of Rs. 500 million. (Business Recorder, 31st July, 2008)

Following in the path of other recent weak data, the commission's euro zone economic sentiment indicator plunged to 89.5 points from a revised 94.8 points in June. Japan likely to endure 'modest' economic slowdown: IMF

Japan's economy looks set to endure a "modest" slowdown as economic problems hamper the United States and as global stock markets continue to be plagued by turmoil, an IMF report warned. Daniel Citrin, the IMF's deputy director and mission chief for Japan said that we see the economy in Japan clearly slowing down. Japan is vulnerable to oil price shocks because it imports all the oil consumed by its voracious economy. Japan's core inflation rate hit 1.9 percent in June, the fastest pace since January 1998 when consumer prices rose 2.0 percent, according to a government report. The IMF meanwhile praised the Bank of Japan (BoJ) for its liquidity operations, saying its proactive stance had helped underpin the country's financial markets during global market turmoil. Presently, the only potential source of iron ore is Nokkundi having 50 million tons of total deposits. (Dawn, 01st August, 2008)

Weak dollar, tax rebates bolster US GDP growth

A boom in exports and tax rebates to tens of millions of Americans helped bolster US economic growth to an annualized 1.9 per cent during the second quarter, a government report showed. An emergency 168-billion-dollar economic stimulus, stuffed with one-off tax rebates, also stoked growth higher. Exports, underpinned by a weak dollar, boomed 9.2 per cent during the April-June period, after rising 5.1 per cent in the first quarter. Imports meanwhile declined 6.6 per cent, marking a sharper decrease than the 0.8 per cent seen in the first quarter. Exports added 2.42 percentage points to second-quarter growth, but some economists wondered if the export spike could be maintained. Consumer spending rose 1.5 per cent during the second quarter against a 0.9 per cent gain in the prior quarter despite Americans cutting back on purchases of big-ticket durable goods. Economists watch consumer spending closely because it accounts for some two-thirds of GDP growth. The government meanwhile revised lower its first-quarter growth estimate to 0.9 per cent from 1.0 per cent, and significantly trimmed its reading for the fourth quarter of 2007 to show a 0.2 per cent contraction from a prior estimate of a 0.6 per cent gain. India willing to rejoin WTO talks

India said it was willing to return to the negotiating table to work out a new global trade deal but warned it would not make any compromises that could hurt poor farmers. Trade Minister Kamal Nath told that the US created the deadlock on an issue which was not trade but related to livelihood of farmers and India is ready to be at the table without compromising on issues which concern poor farmers of not only India but 100 other developing countries. Delegates in Geneva had struggled to reach consensus on import tariffs. India, one of the world's biggest emerging economies, and the world's economic superpower, the United States, clashed over how poor nations could hike duties to shelter farmers from a flood of imports. The United States refused to agree to proposals by India that developing nations should be allowed to boost duties by an additional 25 per cent on farm products if imports surged by 15 per cent. Washington insisted extra duties should be imposed only if imports surged by 40 per cent. (Dawn, 01st August, 2008)

Indian inflation flirts with 12 percent, to creep higher

Indian annual inflation rose to within a hair's breadth of 12 percent in mid-July, slightly below forecasts, and analysts expected it to creep higher despite cheaper oil and this week's aggressive rate increase. The wholesale price index rose 11.98 percent in the 12 months to July 19, above the previous week's reading of 11.89 percent, and the highest since the current series became available in 1995. WTO could start to pick up the pieces soon

The widespread dismay over this week's collapse of global trade talks could prompt the World Trade Organization to seek a way out of the impasse soon after the summer break, a highly placed trade. That would involve WTO experts and negotiators taking a fundamental look at the issue over which the talks deadlocked a technical but important proposal to help farmers in poor countries withstand a flood of imports, the source said. WTO spokesman Keith Rockwell ruled out a resumption of ministerial talks in September, noting that the WTO largely shuts down in August so little preparatory work could be done. Indian Commerce Minister Kamal Nath repeated that he was willing to resume the talks whenever India's partners were ready. The issue is how to reconcile the need for an emergency safeguard with the broader aims of trade liberalization. India and Indonesia said the safeguard was needed to protect their millions of subsistence farmers. (Business Recorder, 01st August, 2008)

Weak US growth adds to gloom

The US economy grew at an annualized rate of 1.9 per cent in the second quarter, faster than earlier in the year but slower than economists were expecting, the commerce department said. Govt. reluctant to reduce oil prices: OGRA proposes 7pc decrease

Although the Oil and Gas Regulatory Authority (OGRA) has proposed a seven per cent decrease in domestic oil prices, the coalition government, it seems, is reluctant to pass on this benefit to consumers. The OGRA recommendation came in the wake of a recent decline in oil prices in the international market to $126 per barrel from an all-time high price of $147, but the decrease in oil prices is yet to be passed on to consumers. "Owing to a recent downward trend in international petroleum prices, we recommend seven per cent decrease in the POL products to the government," OGRA Chairman Munir Ahmad informed Senate Standing Committee on Petroleum and Natural Resources. Repeated increases in domestic oil prices helped the oil marketing firms and dealers to make windfall gains because of rise in international prices. The committee recommended that after a recent decrease in prices, a downward revision in oil prices had become necessary. (Dawn, 03rd August, 2008)

Iran has temporarily halted exports of fuel oil because of domestic needs during a severe drought, a senior official was quoted. Iran is a regular exporter of fuel oil to Asia. Iran expects OPEC to discuss ways of controlling the quotas of member countries at its next meeting in September. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is scheduled to hold its next regular meeting on September 9 in Vienna.
